I have a table that has over 100 columns. Is it possible to get the max value from this table through MySQL functions or must I create a view to do this? I tried to use the LIMIT function but this does not work for multiple tables. This is my code (which does not work): string sql = "SELECT MAX(Column_name) FROM Table_name"; MySqlCommand cmd = new MySqlCommand(sql, connection); IQueryable query = (IQueryable)cmd.ExecuteScalar(); ViewBag.Max = query; A: From the comment I think you are trying to find the greatest value of some column. If so you can use the following: SELECT MAX(Column_name) AS max FROM Table_name As you can see this will give you the greatest value for each row of the table. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a device and method of forming a semiconductor device, and more particularly to a semiconductor device and method of forming the semiconductor device in which a silicon layer is oxidized to form a silicon oxide layer on the silicon layer. 2. Description of the Related Art It is well known in the prior art that the functionality and reliability of a semiconductor device can be improved by making the semiconductor device thinner. For example, the functionality and reliability of a semiconductor device can be improved by making the semiconductor device thinner so that the capacitance between the gate of the semiconductor device and the channel of the semiconductor device is reduced. In addition, the functionality and reliability of a semiconductor device can be improved by forming a silicon nitride layer on the silicon layer of the semiconductor device in order to reduce the stress applied to the semiconductor device. However, when a poly-silicon layer is formed on a silicon layer in the prior art, a silicon nitride layer is typically formed on the silicon layer before a poly-silicon layer is formed thereon. In this case, the silicon nitride layer and the silicon layer are formed on the silicon layer and have a relatively high stress. In addition, a thermal treatment process is typically performed when the silicon layer is oxidized to form a silicon oxide layer on the silicon layer. Therefore, the silicon layer typically remains under the silicon nitride layer even after the silicon layer is oxidized to form the silicon oxide layer. In this case, the reliability of the semiconductor device can be reduced by forming a gate in the silicon layer after the silicon oxide layer is formed.
