In addition, users can insert notes and books into a single document, using templates best suited for each type of data. You can also display all notes and books attached to a single entry. ME-Mydoc is divided into three main categories - documents, notes and books. Within each category, you can view, search for, and organize various types of data. You can view the description of the document, the list of authors, the note's tag list, a calendar of modifications and the information concerning the security restrictions. Such information, available in the application, provides a high level of security for your information, while easily locating it. You can select a document or folder and choose to move it to another location. The document's size, file type and security options can be defined in the file manager. ME-Mydoc allows you to create tables with various layouts for the displayed data. In the program, it is possible to replace the data in a table using the advanced search, where you select the column and then the row. The reordered data can be saved as a new table or copied. The maximum capacity for the entry is 150 characters. Each document contains a list of the documents that were added to it. You can delete a single document or all the documents in the entry.
